

Name: Boyang Li

Date: 10 April 2012

Instructions: Select one statement below and use the STAR method to respond.

Situational/Behavioral Questions that Target Specific Job Skill Requirements:

- Describe a time when you were faced with problems or stresses in school or at work that tested your coping skills. What did you do?
- Tell me about an experience in which you had to speak up and tell other people what you thought or felt.
- Give an example of a time when you used your fact-finding skills to gain information needed to solve a problem; tell me how you analyzed the information and came to a decision.
- Give an example of an important goal you set and describe your progress in reaching that goal.
- Describe the most creative project you have completed.
- Discuss a situation during the past year in which you had to deal with an angry and upset customer, coworker, or classmate.
- Describe a project that was difficult for you to lead. What did you do to keep the project on track?
- Give an example of how you contributed toward a teamwork environment in school or on the job.
- Describe the most difficult supervisor or professor you have had, and tell me how you dealt with that person.

- Give an example of a time when you used your fact-finding skills to gain information needed to solve a problem; tell me how you analyzed the information and came to a decision

Answer:

Currently I am discussing the feasibility about making a music social networking website in China with my friend. I think this is a very creative idea because, first, there is no successful case in music social networking website in China, which determines that there will be no strong competitors in this area. Second, music is a basic recreational demand for everyone so the potential customers will be huge. Third, the mode of website is simple: The basic online music purchase platform. This will reduce the risk of technology of the website. Fourth, with the stronger sense of property right among Chinese people, the number of people who are willing to pay for music is big.